

Bachelor of Integrated Studies

Finish What You Started

Whether life got in the way of your original plans or your first major just wasn't the right fit, it's time for a fresh start. Let's get you to graduation.

Build Your Own Degree

Interests evolve, circumstances change, and not everyone can (or wants to) follow a traditional line to earn a degree. The B.I.S. program from WVU's Eberly College of Arts and Sciences is purpose-built to expand your possibilities. Instead of forcing you into a box, you have the freedom to design your own curriculum.

Maximize Prior Learning: Bring existing credits with you. Our advisors will evaluate your credit hours and map them into your study plan.

Life-Compatible Format: Learn entirely online with flexible, asynchronous classes. Complete your degree from anywhere on a schedule that fits your busy life.

Fast Facts:

Admission Terms:

Fall, Spring, Summer

Learning Format:

Online Asynchronous

Endless Possibilities

This degree gives you the freedom to mix, match, and stack different subjects to build a playlist of courses that reflect your unique ambitions.

Your Competitive Edge: Get the knowledge and skills that employers seek. Learn to solve complex problems, think creatively, and sharpen your communication.

Chart Your Path: Whether your goal is career advancement or graduate school, you define the finish line. Earn a versatile qualification built to your specifications.

Build Your Portfolio: Stand out to employers with a final capstone project designed to turn your coursework into a practical, real-world professional portfolio.

Who is Eligible?

You must have at least 12 in-progress credit hours OR be 2 years beyond high school graduation, with a minimum 2.0 GPA.

Degree Requirements

Your path to graduation will include 2 required core classes and a final project designed to support your success:

- MDS 289: Foundations of Integrated Studies
- MDS 301: Integrative Writing
- MDS 401: Capstone Project

What is F-Forgiveness?

F-Forgiveness is a feature of the B.I.S. program and can give you a fresh start as you continue to pursue your degree. Please note that if you choose to transfer to another program, any forgiven "F" grades will be reinstituted.

We're Here When You're Ready

Our dedicated advisors work with you one-on-one to evaluate your credits and map out your fastest route to graduation.
